User Profile

The user of this report is expected to be soccer fans. Soccer fans get to see the productivity of goals, either by home team and by away team in past seasons, starting from season 2008/2009.

Soccer fans require goal statistics to be able to see previous seasons' results, and what to expect of goal statistics in the upcoming seasons. While this shows the aggregated values of each league in a season, predicting the upcoming seasons' goal productivities will certainly improve soccer fans' desire to watch the matches in that season, as soccer fans tend to fall in love with soccer due to its goal productivity, with other factors contributing to that love as well.
